STARTLING DEVELOPMENTS IN THE FAULKNER INVESTIGATION

A. & M. College Involved in Charges Preferred Against Negro Teacher---Details of Proceedings Before Commissioners Murphy And Brown Yesterday.

Yesterday afternoon before the Board of Commissioners, which is also the Board of Education, the hearing of the charges preferred against H. H. Faulkner, for a number of years principal of the Percy street negro school in this city, was begun and the hearing will likely last several days. The hearing is creating as much interest among the negroes of the city as did the King investigation of last year before the white people of the city. The council chambers of the board were crowded to their capacity yesterday afternoon and last night when the board resumed its hearings. A coincidence between the above mentioned cases is that counsel appearing in this case appeared in the King investigation also.

Commissioners Murphy and Brown were present. Commissioner Foushee being detained on account of the illness of his mother-in-law. E. D. Kuykendall served as court stenographer.

While there were no outbursts of passion yesterday afternoon it was evident that the board was expecting a free for all fight, may even foul play, for it had taken the precaution to have the coroner on hand ready in case he was needed. However, after seeing that he would not be needed during the afternoon the coroner was excused until later, after he had made the statement that he would appear on the scene in double quick time if his services were demanded.

The investigation took on a startling turn when President J. B. Dudley, of the A. & M. College, was put on the stand and the fact disclosed for the first time that while Faulkner was bur-sar for the college in 1896-98 he was found short in his accounts to the amount of nearly $800. Attorney Broadhurst, who represented Faulkner, demanded the records and when these were not forthcoming objected to the testimony of the witness. Addressing the board he declared that it was not fair for one negro to testify to the shortage of another without having the records of the college to place before the board, especially when these records would show that the witness himself was mixed up with this shortage. From this statement of counsel it appears that the records of the college will be brought into court and that the defense will attempt to show that President Dudley was as much at fault in the shortage of the accounts as was Faulkner himself.

After this statement of counsel the testimony took another turn and President Dudley testified that he had known Faulkner for 16 years and he considered his character bad. Regarding the shortage he stated that he had prevailed on the finance committee to allow Faulkner to remain in his position for another year after the discovery, during which he made good the shortage. On cross-examination he admitted that he had written to Faulkner from Raleigh asking him to send money to the chairman of the board of trustees for expenses while attending the session of the fusion legislature in 1897 and he thought this was sent in money. He stated that he thought afterwards properly made vouchers were filled out to show where the money went to but was not certain in this particular case. He also stated that after Faulkner was discharged as a member of the faculty he had given him a letter of recommendation, speaking in high terms of his trustworthiness. He also testified to a letter written by a member of the trustees in which it was stated that Faulkner was more attentive to his duties than any member of the college faculty. The witness stated on cross-examination that the shortage had not occurred in one year, but was overlooked, how long he could not tell, because of the fact that the auditing board of the college did not call for his bank book, simply checking over his books. When the cash was called for in 1897 the shortage was discovered. The manner in which the shortage occurred was not brought out, but it is probable that when the matter is traced down Faulkner will in a measure be exonerated of this charge against him. At least it has brought to public notice loose work by the examining committee that inspected the college books prior to the discovery.

The negro janitor of the school on Percy street, of which Faulkner was principal, testified that he had for a period of two years stolen coal from the

MAXWELL JUMPS INTO SIMMONS- ELLER CONTROVERSY

Man Alleged to be Responsible For North Carolina Democratic Campaign Literature Issues Cause Card Addressed to Josephus Daniels---Argues Tariff Issue.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, July 13.—A. J. Maxwell, secretary of the Corporation Commission, has issued a lengthy signed card addressed to the editor of the Raleigh morning paper setting out in full his connection with the now famous "lumber circular" of the 1908 campaign that figured in the colloquy between Senator Simmons, Senator John Sharp Williams and others on the floor of the Senate when Simmons was delivering his speech in advocacy of his amendments to the Canadian reciprocity bill. He says State Chairman Eller is mistaken about not having read all of the circular and insists that he read and strongly approved it; that 20,000 circulars were printed and the article printed in the Raleigh morning paper before it was passed into the general campaign newspaper supplement.

He insists that the article can in no way be construed to be a repudiation of the Denver platform. He argues that it was really the application of the "rule of reason" to the tariff plank. A notable bit of irony in the card is the statement that it never occurred to him that when this Democratic House assembled, elected squarely upon an issue of tariff reform, on this same platform, that it would forget all the balance of this tariff plank, pledging the people relief from exactions of tariff protected and trust organized manufacturers, and accept as their pet measure a trade agreement originated and fathered by a Republican president and championed by the leading protection high priests of the country which amounts to placing on the free list the products of the farm and leaving the farmer at the complete mercy of the protected trust manufacturers.

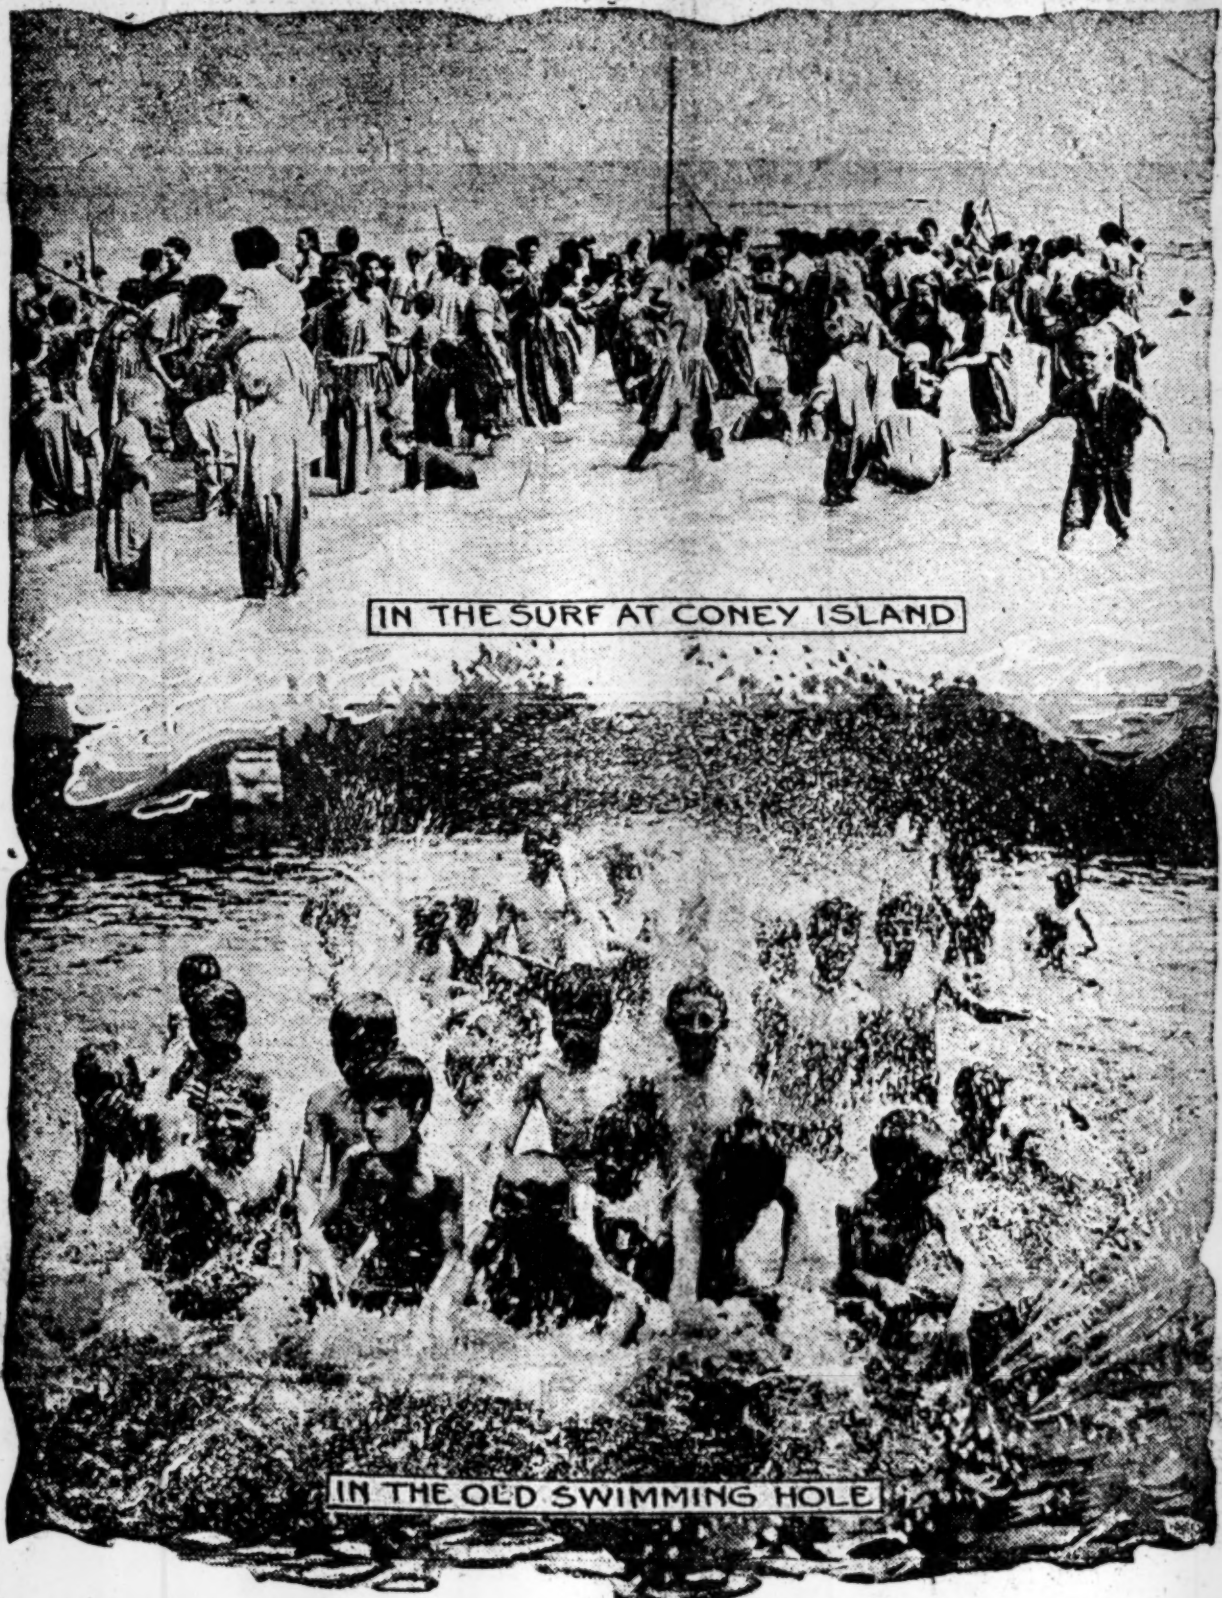

He resents the insinuations of the Raleigh morning paper that his connection with the lumber business had anything to do with the writing of the article and tells of Editor Daniels having brought about his taking up the publicity bureau work of the campaign and insisting that he can "look any North Carolina free-wood-pulp-and-print-paper newspaper man in the face and claim to be as white as he is."

WINSTON MAN KILLED IN CABARRUS COUNTY

News reached this city last night of the death of Capt. Robert Pinckney Henry of Winston, who died as a result of injuries sustained Wednesday. Capt. Henry was engaged in surveying for a new railroad near Mount Pleasant in Cabarrus county. When a storm arose he and two assistants and his son took refuge in an abandoned house. During the storm the house was blown down upon the three men. Capt. Henry's son escaped from the falling building, but the men were all injured. Capt. Henry died yesterday from the injuries received, while his companions are yet alive.

The body of Capt. Henry will be carried to Winston today for burial. He was fifty-two years of age and is survived by his wife and several children. He was well known in Greensboro, being a brother-in-law of W. B. and S. L. Trogon of this city.

"The Old Swimming Hole" Has Hot Weather Merits Not Surpassed by the Surf at Gay Coney Island.

Copyright by American Press Association, 1911.

One of the delights of hot weather that appeal to the boys is splashing around in the water. There is nothing like it. The boy who does not know that when he sees a companion hold up two fingers it means "go in swimming" has something to learn that should be a part of his education. A group of boys in the "old swimming hole" is shown above, while the other picture shows a lot of New York city children enjoying the surf at Coney Island, the resort that has one of the finest bathing beaches in the world. The enjoyment of the little ones is evident.

TWO BROWNS MAY SEEK GOVERNORSHIP OF EMPIRE STATE

Atlanta, Ga., July 13.—The business of electing a United States Senator out of the way members of the Legislature and attaches of the capitol have turned to the next gubernatorial election as food for gossip. The fact that Governor Smith, according to his own statement, will not resign until winter, thus placing the election some time off, does not seem to dull the interest.

The announcement of J. Pope Brown, of Hawkinsville, former State Treasurer, that he would be a candidate, was the subject of the most talk today. He was mentioned some time ago but did not make formal announcement until last night.

Attorney General Thomas B. Felder also has been "mentioned." It is expected that half a dozen other names will be connected with the next State election. Ex-Gov. J. M. Brown has made nothing public as to his intentions.

HARNETT SHOWS A HEALTHY INCREASE

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, July 13.—H. C. Stewart, of Lillington, county tax assessor for Harnett county, was a caller at the office of the Corporation Commission today and reported that Harnett will show a gain of forty per cent. in the tax valuation of real and personal property. This is about the best gain yet shown by any county that has thus far reported under the reassessments made in compliance with the new machinery act.

PURDY Former Assistant Attorney General Before Committee Investigating Sugar Trust

Special to Telegram.

Washington, July 13.—Former Assistant Attorney General Milton Purdy told the House sugar trust investigating committee today that he never knew officially why Attorney General Bonaparte did not prosecute the officials of the American Sugar Refining Company in 1906.

He said that George H. Earle, Jr., receiver of the Philadelphia company, had given him information that warranted a prosecution. He claims that he submitted the case to Mr. Bonaparte who in turn submitted it to President Roosevelt. His only connection with the case he said had been up to the time he had submitted it to Mr. Bonaparte. Why a prosecution had not been instituted was not known to him.

Frank Lowry, the next witness, told the committee that the American Sugar Refining company enjoyed lighterage rebates in New York harbor from railroads, thereby discriminating against his company, the Federal Sugar Refining Company. He also stated that the case involving lighterage charges between the Federal and the American sugar refining companies was now before the commerce court.

TAFT ATTACKED BY LA FOLLETTE IN ANTI- RECIPROCITY SPEECH

Special to Telegram.

Washington, July 13.—Senator La Follette in a speech against reciprocity today reviewed the administration of President Taft in scathing terms and declared that it was a fight between the plain people and confederated privilege. He said the reciprocity agreement violated every tariff principle of this country as it did every promise made in the Republican platform upon which President Taft was elected. He not only criticized the President in strong terms during his speech but took a fling at former secretary of the interior department, Richard A. Ballinger, whom, he said, had been aiding the Guggenheim syndicate to obtain vast interests in Alaska.

Methods of Lumber Dealers To Be Investigated.

Special to Telegram.

Washington, July 13.—Following closely on the criminal action against the Retail Lumber Dealers Association of the west and the civil anti-trust action against retailers of the east the government has determined on an inquiry into the methods of manufacturing and wholesaling lumber. The National Lumber Manufacturers Association will probably be the first organization to be investigated.

Judge Ward's Condition Is Serious.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, July 14.—News from the bedside of Judge George W. Ward, of Elizabeth City, continues to be quite unfavorable. He is in the hospital at Tarboro where he has been under treatment for seven weeks now. He is regarded as a very sick man, an excessive flow of blood to the head being his most serious trouble.

GOVERNOR DENEEN TESTIFIES BEFORE LORIMER COMMITTEE

Tells of His Part in The Election of The Illinois Senator---Said He Supported Yates For Senator---Taking of Testimony Will be Resumed Today.

Special to Telegram.

Washington, July 13.—Governor Charles Deneen was the first witness in the Lorimer investigation today. He told the story about his part in the election of Lorimer to the Senate. In all previous investigations Gov. Deneen had not been called as a witness, but as his name had been so frequently mentioned he was subpoenaed. Gov. Deneen told of his nomination for Governor in 1904.

Former Governor Yates, who had been a witness before the committee had testified that Deneen had failed to carry out his promise to support Gates for Senator and so Yates declared, Deneen was a liar. I don't think the Senatorship was ever mentioned at that time, said the witness. Gov. Deneen said afterwards that he had supported Yates for Senator and that their relations had always been pleasant. He denied that Yates had ever given him to understand that he had lied in connection with his support of Yates.

Deneen said that the first meeting between himself and Lorimer took place in 1909. A general discussion of political conditions occurred in the conversation that ensued. He said that they talked about the source of his weakness in the legislature when he was running for speaker. He said that he wanted to know what position the coalition of the Democrats and Republicans that had been effected by Edward Surcess would take in regard to the governorship. He said he did not know whether Lorimer would support him or not.

Gov. Deneen's testimony until the time the committee adjourned was mainly concerning events preceding the election of Lorimer by the Illinois legislature. He did not go fully into details concerning the events that transpired during the time that the legislature was deadlocked over his election. His testimony will be continued tomorrow.

OVERMAN REJECTS SUICIDE THEORY IN YOUNG CASE

Special to Telegram.

Washington, July 13.—Senator Overman, of North Carolina, who regards himself as sponsor for Ensign Robert Young, Jr., who disappeared Tuesday night from the torpedo destroyer Perkins at the New York navy yard, leaving a note threatening to commit suicide, called at the navy department today. The navy department was unable to supply any information beyond that contained in a telegram of yesterday. The Senator speaking of the case expressed the opinion that the young man did not commit suicide.

Revenue Officers Charged With Accepting Bribes.

Special to Telegram.

Chicago, July 13.—Two revenue officers are charged with accepting bribes in indictments returned by the federal grand jury here today. Twenty-one officers of Butterine factories are charged with conspiracy to defraud the government out of the tax, the bribery of government officials being a part of the conspiracy. The government is said to have lost hundreds of thousands of dollars by these alleged frauds.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, July 13.—A judgment against the American Tobacco Company for $70,000 and costs was signed by Judge Connor this afternoon, following the jury's verdict for $20,000. That means $50,000 under the provisions of the Sherman Anti-trust Act, that gives treble damages.

Judge Connor, also, under this act, taxed the fees for plaintiffs' counsel, allowing $10,000 in this case. Plaintiffs complained that the Ware-Kramer Company receiver is in debt $70,000 and that all the $50,000 verdict will go to the creditors, leaving nothing for Ware and Kramer and the stockholders. However, they decided not to ask for a new trial.

End of Long Fight.

Raleigh, July 13.—A verdict of $20,000 damages was returned this morning by the jury in the million two hundred thousand dollar damage suit of Ware-Kramer Tobacco Co. vs. American Tobacco Co. after the jury had been out all night. Under the Sherman anti-trust act, under which the suit was brought, this verdict will be trebled, making the judgment for damages that the court will enter against the American Tobacco Co. $60,000. The American Tobacco Co. through counsel, lodged notice of appeal but it is understood that this will be the end of the suit which was brought on the ground that the American Tobacco Co., through the use of coupons, free and gratis goods, inside discounts and other secret and unlawful means of pushing cigarette sales persistently invaded the trade of the plaintiffs and brought about the failure of the plaintiff who went into the hands of a receiver in Norfolk in 1909. The trial has been in progress here for four and a half weeks. The suit originally included W. M. Carter as a co-defendant through conspiracy with the A. T. Co. against the plaintiffs, but a nonsuit as to him was taken two weeks ago.

The motion for a new trial made by American Tobacco Co. in the Ware-Kramer Co. vs. American Tobacco Co., is based on six alleged errors in the charge of Judge Connor and in admission and rejection of evidence. Counsel for the plaintiff express great dissatisfaction at the verdict as allowing inadequate damages and will indicate to the court whether they will join in the motion for new trial. C. C. Daniels of counsel for Ware-Kramer explained to the court that his client owes $70,000 under the present receivership so that the damages allowed will not even satisfy creditors and will yield no benefit whatever to stockholders.

Under the law Judge Connor will have the duty of assessing the counsel fees for the lawyers representing the plaintiff in the trial, these fees to be taxed against American Tobacco Company in addition to the damages allowed and the costs in the case. In this way, in the event the findings of the court stand, the case will cost the A. T. Co. considerably over $100,000.

It is said that five of the jurors were opposed to allowing any damages at all. These were J. B. Burke, Jno. Powell, J. D. Womble, Daniel Long, and W. F. Garris. The seven favoring a verdict for damages were J. R. Wright, W. P. Denner, Kirchon Taylor, Berry Daniel, A. Frank Barber and J. M. Parrish. The jury included seven Democrats and five Republicans and it is understood that three of the five Republicans held out for big damages, and two were against any damages at all. Four Democrats favored big damages and three wanted no damages allowed. The verdict allowing $20,000 was a compromise of the different views.

No True Bill Against Montague.

Special to Telegram.

Raleigh, July 13.—The Wake county grand jury returns an indictment marked not true bill in the case of H. W. Montague, who has been under $20,000 bond since June 4 when he shot to death Buck Robertson, near Eagle Rock. The jury did, however, return a bill for carrying concealed weapon. Montague was "keeping company" with Miss Clarice Robertson, sister of the deceased, against the will of the other members of the family, they being engaged. It was after an ice cream supper on the night of June 4 that Robertson accused Montague of talking about him and the shooting followed, Robertson having fired upon and wounded Montague first.

DEMOCRATIC PRINCIPLES AND POL- ICIES HAVE NOT BEEN CHANGED.

Senator Simmons has a right to be a protectionist if he believes protection is right, but he should not misrepresent the majority of the people who sent him to the Senate.

The same is true of Senator Overman and the Congressmen from this State.
If a majority of the voters of this State believe in high tariffs, they should be represented in Congress by men who believe in high tariffs. If the majority is opposed to high tariffs, North Carolina's Senators and Congressmen should be men with like views.

There is nothing to substantiate any statement to the effect that a majority of the voters of North Carolina favor high tariffs. The present Senators and Congressmen were elected on Democratic platforms declaring in favor of the Democratic policy of no tariff, or low tariff, so that the personal views of these men cannot be accepted as the views of a majority of their constituents. They accepted their nominations and were elected on Democratic platforms, State and National. If they did not believe then in the policies of the Democratic party they played false with the people in accepting the nominations and keeping silent in regard to their personal views; and the fact that some of them come forward now and plead that their honest convictions are not in accord with the Democratic platforms and the policies of the party, does not mean that a majority of the Democrats of this State have changed their views or that the principles and policies of the party are wrong.

Senators and Congressmen may, or may not, have changed their views. The policy of the Democratic party has not changed and cannot be changed until another State platform and another National platform have been written. Senators and Congressmen may have offered for office on these platforms, concealing their honest convictions from the voters for the purpose of securing nomination and election, but that does not change Democratic principles or policies.

SENATOR HOKE SMITH.

Governor Hoke Smith of Georgia, has been elected to the United States Senate. Governor and Senator Smith is a native of North Carolina, being a nephew of General R. F. Hoke of this State. Mr.
Smith will be one of the highest men physically in the United States Senate, and mentally he will not have a superior in that body. His Democracy is the sort that can be depended on. He is a genuine tariff reformer, and is entirely independent of any connections or influences calculated to warp his views or cause him to desert party principles and policies.
Hoke Smith's career as United States Senator will be worth watching, and it is safe to predict that his native State and his adopted State and the Democratic party throughout the nation will have cause to be proud of his record in that body.

KEEP THE CITY CLEAN.

There has been little said in Greensboro about cleaning up the city since the spring cleaning campaign ceased.
As The Telegram has often remarked, eternal vigilance is the price of cleanliness. To keep the city clean and to keep the premises of individuals clean it is necessary to exercise constant care and to clean up frequently. One spring cleaning is far from sufficient. It is especially important that the city should be kept clean at this season of the year, as the danger from disease is probably greater now than it was in the spring, and flies, mosquitos and insects multiply at this time of the year if any cause exists.

Keep the city clean and let every property owner and tenant keep his premises clean. There is danger always from dirt and filth, but the danger grows as the summer wears on; and the danger is greatest during a trying summer such as this section is experiencing now. The people are weakened by the dry, hot weather and the enervating conditions prevailing, and they more easily become the prey of disease.
Cleanliness is doubly important now.

Having come back, it is now in order for Castro to demonstrate just how far back he can come.

If Castro's come back act is successful, Diaz may decide to appear in a similar role.

The Richmond Times-Dispatch has a small opinion of Hoke Smith, Governor and Senator down in Georgia. This may be due merely to the fact that Smith is a native of North Carolina.

Senator Overman has not been heard from with a defense of his vote in favor of a tariff on lumber. As excuses are in order Senator Overman should stand up and spit it out.

Man who is a champagne fiend has been sentenced to the chaingang in Georgia. He will have an opportunity to find out how some men with beer appetites live and labor.

There are indications that it may be necessary to call a peace conference in North Carolina to settle the disturbances in the Democratic party arising out of the Senatorial fight.

Down in South Carolina some of the people want to hold Governor Blease responsible for the hot weather. Well, it must be admitted that he has contributed largely to keeping the temperature up in that State.

The Durham Herald says Mr. Simmons' excuse will not hold water. That opinion appears to prevail throughout the State and to be the view of a decided majority of Senator Simmons' fellow citizens.

Asheville Gazette-News says that "The language of South Carolina is again heard in the mountains." The kind of language they like in the mountains is the talking done by South Carolina money.

It is said that the mobilization of United States troops upon the Mexican border was a failure from a military standpoint. However, it was a great success in contributing to the expense of maintaining the army.

The Concord Tribune says that an actual test in that city proved that an oiled street was two degrees cooler than a street which had not been oiled. Heat does not radiate from the oiled surface as it does from the surface of a street which has not been oiled, and the result is that oiled streets help to keep down the heat. Score another point for the oiling of streets.

Senator Simmons' course in the Senate meets with the approval of very few of the newspapers of this State; and if the newspapers reflect the sentiment of the voters, Senator Simmons does not represent a majority of the people of the State in his attitude in the Lorimer matter, his opposition to Canadian reciprocitiy and his tariff views.

Alton B. Parker's opinion of Democratic chances of success in the next National campaign does not furnish much encouragement to his party. Alton must be a disciple of "Gloomy Gus." He has been defeated but once, and Bryan, who has been defeated three times, still manifests a hopefulness akin to that always displayed by "Happy."

The dry weather throughout the country has cut off growing crops and produced a scarcity of vegetables. There are multiplying evidences of the fact that foodstuffs are going to be high during the coming winter. In fact, prices are already soaring skyward. The News and Observer is authority for the statement that a man who sold four quarts of Lima beans in Raleigh received for them enough to buy one-fourth of a barrel of flour. The high cost of living is going into the aviation business, it seems.

In the Wrong Fold.

No doubt the whole membership of the Senate is most uncomfortable at this time, but the pitiless glare of naked truth must be especially trying on Senators Simmons of North Carolina, Bailey of Texas, Thornton and Foster of Louisiana. To use the expressive phrase of the New Orleans States, these nominal Democrats are "serving Republicanism in a Democratic uniform," by defending protective tariff principles in the course of the debate on the reciprocity agreement. Claiming to favor a tariff for revenue only, bound by the platform of the party to which they affirm allegiance to favor no other, these Senators would make exceptions which would vitiate the rule. A tariff for revenue only is the only possible tariff that any Democrat anywhere can support. Those so-called Democrats who vary from this straight and narrow plank do so without exception for personal advancement.

Observe Thornton of Louisiana, who has thus far shown no earmarks of statesmanship. His opposition to the reciprocity agreement, as well as that of his colleague, Senator Foster, is thus defined by the Philadelphia Record:
"The two Louisiana Senators are for anything or anybody that will help to prevent the reduction of protective duties on sugar. That is the sum and substance of their political principles." Substitute "lumber" for "sugar" and the sentence is true of Simmons of North Carolina.—Richmond Times-Dispatch.

Cause of Contempt for Law.

The Concord Tribune says: "In Spartanburg a few nights ago a party of six young men who are prominent and belong to the 'best families' were caught gambling and arrested. Their names were entered on the police docket, but after many hasty consultations, were blotted out before a newspaper reporter could obtain them. The public there is demanding that these young men be tried like all other defendants in police court and much criticism of the action of the officials in suppressing their names has been heard on the streets of Spartanburg. And the public is right."

This sort of action is witnessed in every town in the country and is a prolific cause for contempt of all law. A negro or poor white man without influence is pulled for the smallest offense while the fellow from the 'best families' commits almost any kind of violation of the law and goes without arrest or punishment. And this sort of influence not only stays the hand of the law but it muzzles the press to a large extent. The gambler and the trader of women from the social world, if he happens to have money and influential parents, demands the editor to keep his name out of the paper. The parents accompany the son to the newspaper office and state in unmistakable language that this thing must not go in print, and in a majority of cases the matter is hushed—the press has been throttled.

It is time for this condition to cease, and who will be the first to volunteer to stand for right and justice? Until a change is effected the law will be fettered and the papers will be only a partial mirror of current events.—Salisbury Post.

FOR HOUSEKEEPERS

To clean knives which have been used for peeling onions, place at once in cold water, then wash in warm water with a little soap, rinse well, and dry.

A little dry bread tied in a muslin bag and placed in the saucepan with green vegetables will prevent an unpleasant smell while cooking.

Do not put pastry or cakes in a cool place before they are cold, as a sudden change in temperature will make them heavy.

If a spoon is placed in the saucepan when milk comes to the boil it will prevent the milk from boiling over.

While pastry is cooking, avoid opening the oven door wide, or shutting it quickly, as cold air or sudden draught will make the pastry sink.

To clean a board on which parsley has been chopped, wash well in cold water, then rub with salt to remove the stain, wash in warm water, rinse well, and dry.

Tubs and wooden pails should have as much paint made of red lead and boiled linseed oil as can be got to soak in where the staves and bottom join. This keeps them water-tight.

When there is danger of a wet carpet from the overflow of dripping umbrellas on rainy days, put a large sponge in the bottom of the umbrella stand to absorb moisture.

A tablespoonful of ammonia in a gallon of warm water will cleanse carpets and revive the colors in them beautifully.
In cleaning paintwork, windows, etc., a little ammonia in the water helps wonderfully.

Use clothes pins to screw a small hook into hard wood. It will make it much easier than if the fingers alone are used.

A drop or two of oil of lavender put upon the shelves of a bookcase which is in a damp location, will prevent the books from becoming mouldy.

When making stews or soups the onions should be fried before being put into the stew pan. The improvement in the flavor is surprising.

Paper mache articles should be washed with a sponge and cold water, without soap, dredged with flour while damp, and polished with a flannel.

HEAT AND COLOR

(By JOHN WATSON WHYTE.)

It is not the heat of the sun which causes sunstroke. If heat rays alone produced this curious form of collapse, why then all stokers in ships and iron foundries would be prostrated.

The rays which do the harm are invisible to the eye, and do not cause any direct sensation of heat. They are what are called the ultra-violet rays, and are those which effect a photographic plate.

As every photographer knows, these invisible rays can best be cut off by an orange yellow covering. This shows that the wearing of white in the tropics or in very hot weather is not the best method of protecting oneself from sunstroke.

One should treat the body as a photographer treats plates—wear an orange-colored shirt and line the headgear with flannel of the same color. These strange dark rays have been found to have a most destructive effect upon Indian rubber. The envelope of the gas bag of the Clement-Bayard airship is partly composed of rubber, and in order to protect it the outer skin of the great dirigible has been dyed chrome yellow. No doubt that color will be universally employed for all airships in the future, and it might perhaps be useful for the tires of motors and bicycles.

Ultra-violet rays will penetrate all sorts of substances which are opaque to ordinary light. They will go through many metals, wood, paper and other substances. The desperate illness from which the great inventor, Edison, suffered two and a half years ago is attributed by him entirely to experiments with these rays. They drew his eyes out of focus, raised strange lumps on his chest and caused "mastoiditis," a thickening of the skull bone behind the ears, for which latter complaint he had to undergo an operation, two operations, in fact.

Snow is white and snow is cold. Therefore we associate coolness with the color white, and believe it to be the coolest of colors. But surely if this were so, the birds and animals of the tropics would all be white.

As a matter of fact they are not at all. White is a rare color in the tropics.
The animals are tawny, like the lion, the tiger, leopard and many deer, or gray like the elephant; while the birds are yellow, dark green, emerald green, red, blue and scarlet.

On the other hand many of the Arctic creatures are white. It is argued that this is for the purpose of self-protection by making them indistinguishable from the snow. But from what does a polar bear seek to hide himself?

The fact is that lemon yellow is the coolest color, and that white is warmer than either violet, blue or yellow.

All colors in nature have their reasons; each is the best adapted for its special purpose. The sky is blue because of the water vapor suspended in our atmosphere, and the blue color prevents the fierce sunlight from scorching all exposed to it with a killing glare. The leaf is green because the "chlorophyll," or green coloring pigment, enables it to decompose carbonic acid gas and so produce starch for the use of the parent plant.

Quite Satisfied.

It was the first sight of the great drama, "Saved by a Pin," and Orfool Howler, the famous tragedian, was too ill to appear. He wrung his hands as he thought of the effect of his non-appearance on the audience. In their frenzy they might even wreck the theater! Endlessly an inspiration came to him, and seizing a telegraph form, he wired to his manager: "Too ill to appear. Give audience money back. Orfool Howler."

Two hours later he got a reply. Eagerly he tore it open. What had happened?
Had the audience rioted? No! The telegram read: "Have given audience his money back and he has gone home satisfied."

Marrying The Wrong Girl

(By FRANCES WILEY.)

Nearly every unmarried man you know, however he has failed at other things, flatters himself that he would be a success as a husband. Later on a large number change their minds. They are not successes. The vast majority who recognize that fact assert that the failure is all owing to one thing—the mistake of marrying the wrong girl.

It is very possible that a large number of men really do marry the wrong woman; but in the vast majority of these cases the woman has married the wrong man.

The very idea that a husband has duties and responsibilities which may be hard of performance does not really occur to him when he is thinking of making "the best girl in the world" his.

How many of his bachelor habits will he be content to lop off? With all respect to bachelors, they are inclined to have their little eccentricities, which will not conduce to matrimonial felicity if persevered in after marriage.

"My dear sir," exclaimed a man who was contemplating matrimony, to a friend who had just pointed out a dozen or so little failings which had marked his career as a bachelor, "do not think that I'm fool enough not to see, as clearly as the nose on my face, that I must give up all that kind of thing." He was quite annoyed when it was suggested that he begin at once to see, how life would be.

"That's different," he declared, irritably. "When a man's married things are different." The only difference there seems to be is that he has "married the wrong girl."

Marriage does not make a man industrious, economical or temperate. It does not work miracles. The love for a girl has worked them; but a man loves a girl before he marries her, and the miracle is worked before matrimony, if at all.

TABLET PLACED IN CHURCH WHERE PENN WAS BAPTIZED

Special to Telegram.

London, July 13.—With fitting and impressive ceremonies, the tablet to the memory of William Penn, American pioneer settler, was unveiled today in the church of Allhollows, Barking, in which Penn was baptized on October 23, 1644. Ambassador Whitehead Reid unveiled the tablet and Dr. Robinson, Vicar of the church, officiated at the subsequent dedication ceremonies, participated in also by members of the international committee.

The church of Allhollows is the only building still extant in London which is definitely associated with the life of William Penn.

The memorial tablet was erected by the Pennsylvania Society of New York City. It was designed by McKim, Mead and White, who carried out the original ideas of the late Charles Folien McKim, who was a member of the Pennsylvania Society. Ex-Senator W. A. Clark, Vice President of the Pennsylvania Society, paid the expenses of casting the tablet and erecting it in the church. It bears this inscription within its borders:

In Memory of
WILLIAM PENN
Baptized in this church October 23rd, A.
D. 1644.

Proprietary Founder and Governor of PENNSYLVANIA
Exampler of Brotherhood and Peace Lawgiver.

"I shall not usurp the right of any or oppress his person—God has furnished me with a better resolution and has given me His Grace to keep it."

This Tablet is Erected by THE PENNSYLVANIA SOCIETY OF
NEW YORK, A. D. 1911.

This inscription was written by the venerable Francis Nelson, D. D., Archdeacon of New York, a member of the Pennsylvania Society.

Honest Medicines Versus Fakes.

President Taft's recent message suggesting an amendment to the Pure Food and Drugs law in its relation to Preparaed Medicines, does not refer to such standard medicines as Foley's Honey and Tar Compound and Foley's Kidney Pills, both of which are true medicines carefully compounded of ingredients whose medicinal qualities are recognized by the medical profession itself as the best known remedial agents for the diseases they are intended to counteract. For over three decades Foley's Honey and Tar Compound has been a standard remedy for coughs, colds and affections of the throat, chest and lungs for children and for grown persons, and it retains today its pre-eminence above all other preparations of its kind. Foley Kidney Pills are equally effective and meritorious. Howard Gardner.

District Conference Meets at Norwood

Salisbury, July 13.—The Salisbury District Conference of the Methodist church will meet at Norwood, Wednes-

Davis' Former Servant Will be Retained in Government Service

Special to Telegram.

Washington, July 13.—After hearing an appeal by Senator John Sharpe Williams, of Mississippi, the Senate this afternoon voted 37 to 18 to retain on the pay roll James Jones, the faithful colored body servant of Jefferson Davis, the head of the Confederate States of America. During the discussion Senator Heyburn, of Idaho, referred to Jones' service for Jefferson Davis as an infamous record and the remark met a sharp rebuke from Mr. Williams.

Senator Williams said "I am not willing to hear a civilized man in this Twentieth Century call it an infamous cause. But for the parliamentary rules that restrain me I would have a few words to say about the kind of human being in whose heart such thoughts can exist."

Senator Lodge, of Massachusetts, introduced a resolution to abolish the position held by Jones. He said that he respected the loyalty of the colored man but wanted to know whether the Senate should keep on its payroll faithful servants who had been there for years but could not do any work. He said it was a dangerous practice. Quite a discussion ensued among Senators but as an outcome Senator Williams' resolution providing for a place for Jones was carried.

DAILY MARKET REPORTS

THE GRAIN CROPS.

Philadelphia, July 13.—Over most of the country June was hot and dry, and the government crop report as of July 1, but not compiled and issued till ten days later, reflects this. Of spring wheat the condition July 1 promised 40,000,000 bushels less than the condition June 1, and the estimated loss of winter wheat during June was 20,000,000 bushels. Of course, the immediate effect was to send grain prices up and stock prices down, for if the crops should be small the railroads would have less business.

There is no reason yet, however, to fear small crops. The impairment during June is compared with the uncommonly favorable showing of June 1. At that time everything promised unprecedented crops. The prospect of beating all records has been impaired, but very heavy crops of corn and wheat are still promised, and the oats, which have suffered especially, still compare favorably with harvests prior to the two last.

In the first place, large crops are still promised. The winter wheat condition July 1 promised a crop of only 8,000,000 bushels less than the crop of last year, which was unprecedentedly large. Although the spring wheat suffered very heavily last month, it still promised on the first of this month nearly 14,000,000 bushels more than was harvested last summer. The aggregate wheat crop promises, after all the June destruction, 7,000,000 bushels more than last year's harvest. Corn promises less than last year, but more than in any previous year.

In the second place, the harvests last year were very much better than the promise of the conditions July 1. Winter wheat last year yielded nearly 30,- 000,000 bushels more than the estimates of July 1. The spring wheat yield last year was considerably better than the condition July 1 gave promise of. Corn yielded a little more than the indications July 1. We may come out, therefore, very much better than the condition report would suggest.

In the third place, improvement has already occurred. Last week there was enough rain in four important corn States to effect a marked improvement which was reflected in the prices. Sunday a drought of two months, which had threatened the corn crop of Texas and Oklahoma and was retarding the cotton crop, was broken by heavy rains, which fell for twenty-four hours or more. At the same time a dispatch from Kansas City, Missouri, announced the breaking up of a drought of six weeks. All Kansas was soaked Sunday.
In the Southwest the rain was general, in Oklahoma heavy, in Missouri light, and there were good rains over northern Nebraska and southern South Dakota.
Altogether, therefore, the crop prospects are not at all discouraging, though they are not so phenomenally good as they were June 1. But hay and oats prospects are not satisfactory.

Special to Telegram.

Ottawa, Ont., July 13.—Two hundred lives have been lost and damage to the extent of $2,000,000 suffered in the forest fires in this province. Reports from various places in Canada indicate that the loss of life will run into the thou-

ATWOOD FLEW OVER CAPITOL YESTERDAY

Special to Telegram.

Washington, July 13.—Harry N. Atwood, the Boston aviator, circled over Washington at 6:40 this evening, passing over the capitol, the postoffice, the White House and the monument. Thousands of people collected in the street to see his flight. He started from College Park, Md., 8 minutes before he arrived in Washington. In the monument grounds Atwood, who was flying at an altitude of 800 feet, dropped straight down towards the earth, causing the spectators to cry in horror. They thought Atwood had lost control of his machine, but when near the earth he gracefully glided off in the direction of the river. A few minutes later he reappeared and landed within 81 feet of a specified mark, thereby winning his title to the pilot of the air. Atwood did all sorts of sensational stunts, loop-ing the loop and making spiral flights to the amazement of the crowd. Tomorrow he will call upon President Taft in his machine. The President will present him with a gold medal given by the Washington Chamber of Commerce.

STARTLING DEVELOP- MENTS IN FAULKNER INVESTIGATION

school and carried it to Faulkner's home at his request. He further testified that he was docked in his pay and was always paid in money instead of a check from the city, excepting the last check.

Sam Headen testified that Faulkner had tried to swindle a widow of a deceased member of the colored K. of P. lodge and as a result of his efforts had been expelled from the lodge. Junius Rooks told of Faulkner's being expelled from his church because he refused to turn over to the church a record book which he claimed he had paid for himself. On cross-examination the testimony of these witnesses was cleverly blocked by the defense. Two negro women told of their connection with a mutual insurance company in which Faulkner was interested. However, the evidence was not damaging.

Faulkner is charged with several offenses, the object being to prevent his election to the superintendency of the Percy Street School. He is charged with stealing coal from the city, with defrauding women in financial matters, with unchristian and fraudulent methods in church life, forgery, and misappropriation of money of a State institution. The prosecution contends that under these circumstances it would be a great mistake to have him at the head of a colored school.

It appears from the facts obtained in a general way that the trouble started last Spring when Faulkner expelled from his school a negro woman because she was unmanageable. Relatives of the discharged girls at once began piecing out the charges against Faulkner and have even gone to the expense of sending to Norfolk for the negro janitor to have him tell about coal he stole three years ago. In this connection it might be well to state that this negro will in all probability be held on the charge of larceny.

From the manner in which the defense is conducting the case it is evident that Faulkner is a most methodical man. He appears to have every scrap of paper he ever came into possession of and in this case it is working to good advantage. With the mass of written evidence in the shape of letters, checks, notes and other matter it is believed that he will put some of his prosecutors in close quarters before the matter is ended.

Attorney Broadhurst, who is conducting the defense, is assisted by Geo. H.
Mitchell, a negro lawyer, and his knowledge of the pranks played by the negroes is also coming in to help out the defense. Sapp and Williams are conducting the prosecution for the negroes.

Last night an adjourned session was held and additional witnesses were placed on the stand by the prosecution to show other evil deeds of Faulkner.
The prosecution then rested and Faulkner took the stand. He testified to the incidents that brought about the various charges and stated that they were formulated by those who had a spite against him and principally because the negro women were not elected as teachers last year. He stated that previous to this time the same charges had been preferred against him before the board tion before the State Pharmacy board had passed the test with good average.

The total number of applicants that now become registered pharmacists after proving their competency by examination was 32, the pupils of Page's quiz having a good majority of successful candidates over all other schools combined and maintaining an unusually high standard by so training their representatives that 3-4 of them were able to pass the crucial test with high marks.
Further, to Page's school again comes the honor of training the best druggist, for Mr. Etheridge won that coveted position. The men making the next two highest grades were also from that school. The examination was held at Morehead City throughout July 7th and 8th and the grades have just been issued by the board. The following are the 18 students of Page's who are now licensed druggists: Messrs. Etheridge, E. W. and C. Smith, Crawford, Tom,
Godfrey, Shelton, Thomas, Murphy, Barnes, Horton, Culpepper, Callahan, Cottel, McManus, Spencer, East, and Hood.

Do You Read the WANT ADS?

Have you found out what interesting news is contained in the want page? There is a reason why want ads are interesting to everybody.
Supply and demand create a market. The man who has an article which he has no further use for, with the assistance of a little want ad, can find readily the other man who is looking for just that article. On the other hand the man who is looking for some particular article can find the man who has it and who it perhaps has not occurred that he can sell it, thus by means of the want ad purchasers and sellers for small articles get together.

Try a Want Ad in The Telegram, it makes no difference what you want, tell it here.

PROPRIETOR OF "TIGER" WAS GIVEN HEAVY SENTENCE BY JUDGE

Only one important trial was on the docket of Municipal Court yesterday morning, the majority of the cases being trifling affairs against negroes who received justice to the extent of paying small fines.

Acting Sergeant Patterson on Wednesday raided a pressing establishment belonging to Merritt Smith, colored, which had for some time been waiting certain unsavory scents of a "blind tiger" toward police headquarters. The blow fell rather unexpectedly and 18 pints of the joy-giving juice was found in stock. This handsome prize accompanied the fallen retailer to the city jail and the dispenser answered the serious charge yesterday. He was speedily convicted and Judge C. A. Hines, who yesterday took the oath of office for service while Judge Eure is spending his vacation, sentenced the offender to a term of 12 months in the county workhouse, or, if he prefers, he will be allowed to pay a fine of $200 and the costs. The case was continued until the session this morning to give the negro time to decide his choice of punishment. The disposition of assigning the prisoner to the county workhouse was made because of the fact that Smith is a lurchback and incapable of the hard physical labor of the streets.

The case against Dr. J. H. Boyles for driving an automobile at night without a rear light was dismissed.

Bob and Will Lee, two negro brothers, for making too great a display of brotherly love by engaging in an affair during the early hours of yesterday morning, were haled into court and both convicted. Bob, however, was drunk and mean at the time and had started hostilities, so he was given the heaviest fine, $5 and the costs. Will was taxed with the costs.

Leroy McAden and George Way, two negro youths, were each fined the costs of their trials for offenses respectively of riding a bicycle at night without a light and riding a bike on the sidewalk.

Tom Craig and Lorenzo Martin, both colored, were each fined the costs for an affray.

"Do you think he is really in love with you?" asked Maud.

"I don't know," answered Mamie. "He says he is, but his letters don't sound a bit silly."

FLY KITES ON FEAST DAY

Japanese Perform Clever Maneuvers in the Air With Their Monstrous Rival Fish.

In Japan there is an annual feast day for boys, when each house having male children hangs out strings of paper carp, which inflated by the breeze become lifelike monster fish.

"It was on this feast day," says a writer in the Wide World, "that we left Yokohama for Kamakura, once the eastern capital of Japan, now merely a quiet little seaside village."

"As it was such an important occasion, the whole world made holiday, some families hurried to the seashore to fly their enormous humming kites, from which the parents appeared to derive quite as much enjoyment as the children. The loud hum emitted by the soaring kite is caused by a piece of thin bamboo, which is stretched tightly across from shoulder to shoulder."

"This taut bamboo filament not only acts as an aerial harp but bends the whole kite, so that its surface is concave instead of being, as in our kites, a plane. The noise when some three score or so of these monsters are in the air at the same time is deafening."

"The Japanese kite has no tail, but is furnished with numerous long streamers. Great competitions are held by the owners of the kites, and occasionally a mimic battle will be fought in the air, the rival factions endeavoring by means of powdered glass, which has been previously worked into a definite length of the kite strings, to saw through a rival's string, and so bring the vanquished kite tumbling ignominiously to the ground."

Communications

Hundreds of Thankful Parents.

The two thousand six hundred orphans that have been "cared for in the Oxford Orphanage were born in hundreds of different homes. Take an average of two to the home. That would give us thirteen hundred mothers and thirteen hundred fathers praising God for the kindness shown to their children. John H. Mills, the man who started the first orphanage in our state, surely is meeting many who love him for his work's sake.

We now have about seventeen hundred children in the different Orphan Homes of North Carolina. God bless the men and women, officers and teachers, who are working for those children.

A. D. BETTS.

A Plea for Vegetables.

Regarding the law just passed restricting the use of garden hose to lawns, several citizens are making complaint, saying that there should be no stipulation made as to the way we use anything we pay for. Our lawns do not require to be watered for the prescribed time "one hour" while our vegetable gardens which have cost us much money and labor, are suffering for the water thus wasted.

Let us have the law amended and that part stricken out forbidding the watering of vegetable gardens, just now vegetables are of more importance than our lawns which will really not suffer for lack of moisture at this time. While we admire the foresight of the Board of commissioners in issuing orders to limit the amount of water each house holder shall use we believe that they will agree with us that the law as it now stands interferes with the rights of the consumer inasmuch that it dictates as to the way the water which we buy and pay for in advance shall be used. Hoping this will give none occasion for offense,

Respectfully,
MRS. EMILY STEWART.

Who is Your Favorite Baseball Player?

Do You Know His Complete Record?

Gainor, Tigers' New First Sacker

Besides Grabbing All Pegs and Hits Coming His Way, He Is Batting Like a Streak

You can have his complete record up to and including the 1910 playing season and the records of all other players in any of the organized leagues. All you have to do is to procure a copy of "Facts for Fans," which you can only get from the Greensboro Telegram. Elsewhere in this paper you will find a coupon which when properly filled out, together with 11 other coupons will entitle you to one copy of "Facts for Fans," giving a complete record of all baseball happenings, rules, individual averages, team averages, and most any other information you may desire.

What You Have to Do:

Begin with today's coupon and save one each day until you have 12 consecutive numbers. Present these at the office or mail them in (when mailing send two cent stamp for postage), or for ONE NEW SUBSCRIBER AND ONE COUPON you may have one of these little books full of interesting information.

If you don't want to take the trouble to save 12 of the coupons, bring in a new subscriber somebody who is not now taking the paper, and one coupon. We don't require that you bring in any money for the subscription but if the subscriber will pay you in advance we will allow you, in addition to the copy of "Facts For Fans", a commission of 10 per cent. on the amount paid. You will find the subscription price on page 2.

Manasseh's Wickedness and Penitence. 2 Chron. xxxiii:1-20.
Golden Text—Cease to do evil; earn to do well. Isa. i:16-17.

(1.) Verses 1-2—Whose son was Manasseh and what was the character of his father?

(2.) When the son of a good father becomes a bad man how do you account for it?

(3.) To what extent may good parents be assured that their children will also be good?

(4.) What scriptural or philosophical ground is there for the belief that children may be so trained that they will certainly be Christians?

(5.) Upon which depends most the character of children, the father or the mother?

(6.) Verses 3-5—In what particular respect did Manasseh sin against God?

(7.) That land was rife with idolatry, and God made strict laws against it; why did he do so?

(8.) What were in those days the grave evils of idolatry?

(9.) What habits to-day, among Christian people, are equivalent to idolatry?

(10.) What are the results of present day idolatrous habits?

(11.) Verses 6-7—What is meant by "enchantments, familiar spirits and wizards?"

(12.) Why does the Bible forbid use of all such occult things as mentioned in verse six?

(13.) How do you class palmistry, looking into the tea-cup for signs, thirteen sitting at the table, unlucky Friday and similar "signs?"

(14.) How do you estimate a witch, or a wizard, that is a bad person supposed to have the power of exercising, mentally, an evil influence upon another?

(15.) What is your estimate of those that have "familiar spirits," persons who claim to communicate with the spirits of the dead?

(16.) Verse 8—How long did God say that the Israelites should possess the land of Canaan, and on what conditions?

(17.) Which of God's promises if any, are absolute or unconditional?

(18.) Verses 9-10—When good people become degenerate, are they or not generally worse than those who have always been bad?

(19.) How did God probably speak to Manasseh and his people, and how does God speak to sinners to-day?

(20.) Verse 11—God is here said to have brought the army of the king of Assyria to war with Israel, and to take Manasseh prisoner as a result of his sin. Does God in these days punish sin in any such material way?

(21.) Verses 12-20—What is the general effect of punishment upon sinners?

(22.) Why did not Manasseh know that the Lord was God before his punishment and repentance?

(23.) God freely forgave Manasseh the moment he repented; does He always act the same way with sinners?

(24.) Were all the effects of Manasseh's sins blotted out, as well as the sins themselves? (This is one of the questions that may be answered in writing by members of the club.)

Lesson for Sunday, July 23rd, 1911. Josiah's Devotion to God. 2 Chron. xxxiv:1-13.

MAKING TABLE PRETTY

DECORATIONS MUST FOLLOW DICTATES OF FASHION.

Grouped Bases Are Just Now Much in Favor—Combination Flower Holders in White Dresden Charming for Summer

There are fashions in table decorations as in everything else; just now grouped vases are in favor. While these were introduced last season, there are interesting changes.

Instead of the smaller vases for the corners of the table connected with the large central one by long chains, it is newer to have the set more closely grouped, so as to stand on the centerpiece or glass plaque.

One handsome set has a tall central vase of cut silver with four small matching vases joined to it by curved openwork guards.

Another new set has a larger glass basket overlaid with silver with four small baskets held to the central one by short silver links fastened to the handles.

For cheaper effects two sizes of wicker baskets can be gilded and joined by raphia rings, also gilded.

Watch sales, and get four small vases to match and a larger one in the same design. In this way a stylish table decoration can be had at small cost. If you want the vases linked, fine nickled chains can be bought and joined to the standards of the vases, but they are not especially new and the floral effect is equally good without them.

The linked glass chains are more artistic with glass vases than the china ones, or pretty effects can be had with chains of crystal beads.

These combination flower holders are charming for summer cottages in white Dresden or bellique. They come in novel shapes, many of them connected by a low fence-like arrangement in the same ware. One in Greek design had all the bases shaped like a Doric column, with the tops hollowed to hold flowers.

Very new and artistic, with corresponding cost, is an oval floral arrangement for the center of the table. It has a mirror about three-quarters of a yard long, bordered with a narrow silver rim. This holds in the center a low oval vase of rock crystal, supplied with a wire netting for keeping the flowers erect.

At each end of the mirror are semi-circular sections to hold short-stemmed flowers, with a tall, slender vase to cap each section. At the sides, filling in the intervening space, are two other low sections rectangular in shape. Wonderful floral combinations can be arranged in these.

Giddy Girl.

"Is your daughter of a practical turn of mind?"

"No, she is very frivolous. Wants to take cooking lessons instead of perfecting her game of bridge."

Should Keep a Cow to Do It. "Does it cost much to dress a family?"

"If you believe that time is money. I have seven girls to hook up the back."

Slight Jolt.

"Yes," said the callow youth, "I always speak my mind."

"I've noticed," rejoined the matter-of-fact maid, "that you have little to say."

Being a Wallflower

"Were you ever a wallflower?" asked Mrs. Parkinson of her neighbor, Mrs. Bottine. "But of course you never were," she added, generously. "I suppose it strikes you as funny. It isn't."

"I used to laugh myself about the poor forlorn things sitting in corners watching others dance," she continued. "I laugh no more. I, like you, thought that I should never be a wallflower, but being a wallflower is like lightning—one never knows where it will strike nor whom."

"Never mind when it happened. Perhaps my husband was to blame for not looking out for me. Still, I suppose the poor man thought the other men would swarm about me after he left me at the end of the first dance. The party being informal, there were no programs, so he had no chance to fill one out for me."

"Well, I sat confidently waiting to be asked for the second dance. Alas! I found I had arrived at the bargaining age, where one man makes a bargain with another like this: 'If you will dance the next dance with my wife I will dance with yours.' My husband had not known of my doleful lack of fascination for other men."

"Patiently and vainly I waited for a partner. Finally I saw a man I knew coming across the hall toward me. I half rose, smiling my most fascinating smile. He passed me unheeding, and asked another woman three seats away."

"Surely with the third number I would be asked to dance—hope dies hard! But the third and the fourth were like the second, and there I still sat. Dancing halls are heated for dancers, not for wallflowers, so I began to feel chilly."

"While the fourth dance was in progress I still sat, every minute getting stiffer and stiffer from the cold, while I saw the other people dancing gaily by."

"One woman kindly asked: 'Aren't you dancing this evening?' To which I answered, 'Yes.'"

"But, oh joy! The fifth dance struck up, and lo, a partner!"

"I did not mind if he was old and fat—and oh, how very fat he was! I did not mind if he could not dance. He, at least, would bring me on the floor with the others. I was so overjoyed at being chosen that I could hardly answer him. It was all I could do to refrain from clutching him wildly, so that he could not get away!"

"I wish I could describe that mad wait. Novelists have pictured waiting as floating around the hall with heart and feet attuned to the pulsing, throbbing music." Our wait wasn't like that. My partner began turning round and round, like a dervish, until my head spun like a top. Now he would stop on my toes and then he would madly bump me first into one couple and then into another. But the finest gold has its alloy. One must take the bitter with the sweet. I was, at least, getting warmed up."

"As for my partner, what was my suffering compared with his? His face was purple, his collar was limp and his breath was coming in quick, husky jerks. At last I became alarmed. What if he should have a fit?"

"Hush! he better walk for a while!" I asked him.

"No," he answered. "I'm dancing for exercise. In summer I ride a wheel and in winter I dance to keep down my fat!"

"Oh, why are hope and faith so strong? Why didn't I then go to the dressing room, instead of being led to a seat again, to sit and watch and sit and watch the dancers? But I repeat that hope dies hard."

"Each time a man came my way I smiled, whether I knew the creature or not. It was no use. The revelry went on, and through it all I sat and sat and sat."

"Little by little I moved nearer to the radiator until I found a seat beside it. Oh, how good the heat felt to my stiff neck and my rheumatic knee! It was past my bedtime now and I began to feel sleepy."

"At last the warmth, the music, the laughter and the throb of the dancers' feet all mingled, and I saw nothing, heard nothing!"

"My goodness! Had I been asleep? Had anyone seen me? Oh, my stiff neck, how it hurt!"

"Suddenly I saw my husband coming across the hall. Should I tell him how I had passed the evening?"

"No! No! I would not own up!"

"Smiling, I rose to my feet as he came near. He said: 'I have danced every dance this evening. I am dead tired, and I know you are. Don't you want to go home?'"

"Smiling still, I answered: 'Yes, home sounds very good to me, for I, too, am very tired.'"

"I tried not to limp as I crossed the floor, but my knee gave me ugly twinges."

"Why are you leaving so early?" our friends asked.

"Still heroically I smiled, even as I lied: 'We have danced so hard that we are tired out.'" Optimism?

Tommy—Our Sunday school is to have a picnic next Saturday.

Dick—Good!

Tommy—Why do you say that? Are you going?

Dick—Nope. But that means there'll be a double header at the ball park next day!

LARGE DISTRICT MAY BE DRAINED IN CABARRUS

Concord, July 13.—Engineer W. W. Wetmore and his corps of assistants started a preliminary survey of Cold Water creek this morning in the Cold Water drainage district. A petition signed by a majority of the land owners was presented to the clerk of the court some time ago and the drainage district decided upon as follows: Beginning at Hillman's mill on Big Cold Water creek and runs to Charles M. Isenhour's land and on same land to Will Litaaker's on same creek. The district is ten miles in length and there are 68 land owners in it. 58 of whom signed the petition and 9 opposed. A bond of $50 per mile has been placed to cover the expenses of the preliminary survey. If the engineers report favorably on the proposition this money will be used to pay the prorata part of the land owners who posted it. C. L. Errin and G. M. Lore, two disinterested citizens, have been appointed a board of viewers under the law, and they with the engineer, who is appointed by the State geologist, are required to furnish a report within thirty days.

There is very little doubt but that the engineer will decide that the plan to drain the fertile creek bottoms along Big Cold Water, embraced in the drainage districts, will be feasible, and the unanimity shown by the property owners in joining in the movement assures its success.

PAID PENALTY OF RASHNESS

Snake Charmer Finally Killed by Repetition Which She Had Made Her Particular Pet.

Miss X—, a snake charmer well known among show people, firmly believed that one of her snakes was really fond of her. She could do anything with it—fondle it, kiss and caress it. She grew so fond of it that at last she even let it sleep on her bed, to the great disgust of the other performers in the show. She would eat her meals with this horrible thing coiled around her neck; and once, in very warm weather, she took it under her coat into the woods with her, and let it amuse itself by crawling over the ground. She followed it about and kept a most careful watch over it (it was a valuable performer), but it showed no disposition to go off into the woods, as she feared it might, but came back to her and coiled around her as usual. She was warned several times that the reptile was very dangerous, but she grew more and more reckless, and the snake appeared to become more and more attached to her.

And then, one day, without any warning, directly after a performance, when she was caressing it in her own room, the snake suddenly threw back its head, looked at her steadily, and with lightning-like swiftness struck her between the eyes, leaving two tiny punctures. She hastily unclothed it and thrust it into its box, but she died within half an hour.—McClure's Magazine.

Oh, Girls!

"Don't talk to me of girls!" growled the bachelor. "I took a girl out to lunch last week."

"What of that?"

"Well, I took her into a restaurant, and she said she wasn't hungry."

"Didn't she eat anything?"

"Didn't she eat anything? Why, man, she look at the menu, tried five kinds of soup, two entrees, lobster cutlets, salmon salad, macaroons, coffee, cream buns, chicken—in fact, she ate practically everything you can think of!"

"Well, you ought to be glad!"

"Glad! Glad! Why?"

"You ought to be glad she wasn't hungry!"

TO BE TRIED FOR MURDER.

North Carolina Negro Brought Back From Ohio to Stand Trial For Crime Committed 9 Years Ago. Burlington, July 13.—Pink Long, colored, who it is charged nine years ago murdered and buried under a shock of damaged hay Clem Sutton, also colored, as Caswell county, has been captured in Springfield, Ohio, and lodged in the Caswell county jail in Yanceyville. Long was located in Ohio soon after the crime and Sheriff Fitch of Caswell was sent to Ohio armed with requisition papers. The Governor of Ohio at that time refused to honor the requisition, giving as his reason, as stated in press dispatches at that time, that he feared the negro would not be dealt with justly in North Carolina.

This was just after the passage of the constitutional amendment which worked the disfranchisement of a large percentage of the negroes of the State and during the time that large numbers of negroes were leaving North Carolina for Western and Northern States.

ASSESSMENT OF COTTON MILLS AT SPRAY RAISES TAX FIGHT

Tax Assessor Increased Assessment From $900,000 to $2,240,000--Cotton Goods on Hand Listed at $600,000---This is Item Causing The Kick.

Raleigh, July 13.—J. V. Price, tax assessor of Rockingham county, was in Raleigh yesterday. As a result of Mr. Price's investigation at Spray, the cotton mills and the property owned by them at that place was assessed for taxation at $2,240,000, whereas the assessment last year was $900,000. The owners of the cotton mills protested against this increase in the assessment and appealed to the Board of County Commissioners, which now has the matter under advisement. They objected to the assessment put upon their property upon two grounds:

First, they say that Mr. Price has put too high a valuation upon the mills and their machinery. Mr. Price assessed the property at $9 per spindle for the spinning mills, which includes the buildings, machinery and entire equipment. They contend that is too high. Mr. Price contends that it is reasonable and fair. Mr. Price says he investigated the matter thoroughly before he made the assessment and was advised by experts that the cost of building and equipping a mill was, at the lowest figure, $18 per spindle, and in making the assessment at $9 per spindle he had given the mills every possible advantage they could claim, both for depreciation and to make it harmonize with the assessment of other property.

Second. The second objection of the mill people to the assessment is that they claim they are not required by law to list their goods, wares and merchandise. Mr. Price found that they had about $600,000 worth of cotton goods on hand and he listed it for taxation. The mill people also claimed that the cotton goods they have on hand is in the hands of commission merchants and should be listed as solvent credit and liabilities deducted therefrom, and they deducted their liabilities from this $600,000 and thus wiped it off.

The plan seems to be this: That the mills put their products with the American Warehouse Company and receive from this company certificates of 80 per cent value of the cotton goods placed with them. Then they take these certificates to the bank and borrow money on them, and inasmuch as they have borrowed money on the goods, they claim to owe that much and to be allowed to take this claimed liability from the value of the goods, hence these goods pay no taxes at all.

Mr. Price says that he found the $600,000 worth of goods there and that they must pay taxes. His argument is that if a mule or a piece of land is mortgaged, sometimes the person having the mule or land in possession must give it in for taxation and pay the taxes on it, and that this being true, the cotton mills by the same reasoning must pay the taxes on all personal property in their possession.

There is no doubt that this matter will come before the Corporation Commission whichever way it may be determined by the board of equalization of Rockingham county and it is also probable that it will go to the Supreme Court for the final interpretation. The Rockingham mills are no doubt in the same position with reference to goods as the mills in other counties and uniformity must be secured. The cotton mill people claim that under paragraph 5 of Section 41 of the Machinery Act, they are allowed to list this property as a solvent credit and therefore liabilities can be deducted from it. Paragraph 5, under which they make this claim, is as follows:

"The amount of credits, including accrued interest uncollected owing to the party, whether by a person or out of the State, whether owing by mortgage, bond, note, bill of exchange, certificate, check, open account, or due and payable, or whether owing by any State or government, county, city, town or township, individual, company or corporation; the value of cotton, tobacco, or other property in the hands of commission merchants or agents in or out of the State. If any credit be not regarded as solvent, it should be given in at its current or market value, and the party may deduct from the amount of his credits owing to him the amount of collectible debts owing by him as principal debtor."

Mr. Price claims that this property should be listed under section 41, paragraph 8, which is as follows:

"All other personal property whatever, including all cotton in seed or lint; tobacco either leaf or manufactured; turpentine, rosin, tar, brandy, whiskey, musical instruments, bicycles, goods, wares merchandise of all kinds, plated and silver ware and the watches and jewelry possessed by the party of any minor or child."

This contention between the county assessor and the owners of the mills calls for construction by the Tax Commission and by the courts.

Mr. Price had an interview yesterday with the members of the Corporation Commission and brought this difference of opinion before them. They made no decision, probably waiting to do so until after the new commissioner qualifies. Their decision will be watched with interest by the whole State, for if this property in Rockingham county is exempt from taxation, all such property in every other county must be exempt. If it goes on the tax books in Rockingham county, it must go on in all the other counties and it is a matter of great importance to the State Treasury as well as to the treasury in the county where the property is located, and to the manufacturers and business men of the State.

A gentleman said yesterday that he had no doubt that there was property amounting to more than $20,000,000 of this kind in North Carolina. He did not know whether it was listed or not and thought probably in some counties it was and in some it was not. There ought to be uniformity, whether the property is little or much.

FOR EARLY SUMMER WEAR

Our illustration shows a style suitable for quite thin material, and this season there are any number of new and charming patterns from which to select. Silk warp eolienne in gentian blue is used for our model.

The tunic is turned up with a deep hem, headed by ribbon that is tied in a bow at the left side.

The bodice is cut Magyar; it is made with a yoke of lace with tucked net at the top, which is also used for the collar band. The fullness of bodice is gathered to yoke under a band of silk; the epaulettes of lace are also laid on under this silk band; the short, puffed under-sleeves are of tucked net.

Hat of pale blue Tegal trimmed with a cluster of pink roses.

Materials required for the dress: 5 yards 44 inches wide, 4 yards satteen for lining, 1/4 yard tucked net, 1/4 yard lace 18 inches wide, 1/4 yard silk on the cross, 4 yards ribbon.

LIBERTY SILK FOR SUMMER

New and Exquisite Thing for Summer Evening Wear Has Just Come Out.

Liberty, who is famous for his light and colored wraps, has sent over a new and exquisite thing to be used for summer evenings. It is in shaded liberty silk, usually in pink, and the coloring is worked up in the marvelous way for which he is famous. The underside is a darker pink than the outside, and is turned back in the form of great envelope flaps below the waist.

The back is draped up toward the waist line and the edges are finished with a shirred puff, which is edged with a silk cording. There is not a bit of embroidery or lace on it; it nearly covers the gown, and it can be worn with any kind of costume provided the colors do not clash.

If one cannot get the silk in the colorings one wants it, then it would be advisable to copy this wrap in that new reversible satin which is exceedingly fashionable and can be got in any combination of colors one desires.

Among the lovely and ornate wraps which have been brought out for evening wear are those in printed chiffon cloth in the Persian colors. There is one in black which is almost covered with a soft-hued design in dull blue, red, yellow and pink. This is unlined, is quite long, falls full and slimly from shoulders to hem and is gathered up at the side seams, at waist line, in such a way that it forms a tube-like opening for the arms.

This is finished with a deep ruffle of dull red satin, and the fronts are fastened with two streamers of satin, which are slipped through a mother of pearl ring that looks like the kind used for babies' rattles. There is a wide lace collar in dull ecru Venetian weave.

Ways of Bleaching.

White waists or dresses that have turned yellow from lying too long should be dipped in boiling water in which a tablespoonful of cream of tartar has been dissolved, rubbing or "sousing" about for a few minutes, then rinsed thoroughly. Another method of bleaching is to add a tablespoonful of coal oil to each pail of water in the boiler, put the articles in and let boil for twenty minutes, then remove from boiler into very hot water and rinse, hanging in the sun to dry.

Skirt Binding.

Sew the skirt binding on the hem of your skirt before you press it. Pressing the goods flattens it, and it becomes difficult to tell the braid on a thin fabric without stitching through it.

STORY OF STILL HUNT BY OFFICERS

Durham, July 13.—K. W. Merritt and J. B. Jordan, of the revenue department, yesterday struck in Lebanon township, noted for local self-government in the years of politics, one of the most business-like stills of recent raids, but it was like David Hill's Democracy, still, very still.

The thing had not been so quiet long before for men had seen it with the accessories. An official visit had been paid it a few days ago and the evidence that it was genuine and in operation was complete. Yesterday Messrs. Merritt and Jordan went over to make a second call. When they reached the place on the branch they found the remnants, the copper having been removed. But there were fifteen large fermenters, a worm tub heater, a wood doubler, a melodious odor.

They continued their movements and soon came upon a man and his son. Being Sunday school gentlemen, they began a catechism that ended in the elder gentleman's flight. The wicked fled when nobody was pursuing, but the wicked guessed well. The pursuit followed but not rapidly enough. Likewise the son took to his heels and both men escaped when neither was really being chased.

The officers then continued their work and soon found the track of a wagon that led near a house. There they trailed the worm that dieth not and smelt the fumes of the fire that is not quenched. These bore the marks of hasty removal and the seat of local self-government had been transferred from the branch to another capital. The officers took the still and the booze and brought them to Durham.

The men were not seen again but will be undoubtedly. Their names are not given but the officers have their number. The resumption of blocking in Lebanon appears to have been a trifle subsequent, but it has begun and the old saw is that it never rains but pours.

Foley's Honey and Tar Compound is effective for coughs and colds in either children or grown persons. No opiates, no harmful drugs. In the yellow package. Refuse substitutes. Howard Gardner.

NEWS OF OXFORD.

Tax Value Increase Will Be a Million—Sanitary Fight On—Methodists Install New Pipe Organ.

Oxford, July 13.—The county equalization board met Monday to hear the complaints of those who thought their property valued too high. Very little kicking was exhibited and only one man took an appeal. The total increase, according to Assessor F. W. Hancock, will be about $1,000,000. This will make the total for the county a little over $8,000,000. While the increase has not been as much as the assessors thought it would be in the beginning of the work, perhaps it represents a fair valuation.

The sanitary fight is new in Oxford in full force. Dr. T. L. Booth, the municipal health officer, is determined to carry out the law. He is meeting with right much opposition but is not the kind of person to waver on that account. The offenders, regardless of their wealth and influence, are being brought before the courts and made to pay the penalty for violations of the law. It is very probable that after the first strain of adjustment to the new order is over, everything will move forward smoothly.

The Methodist church has just installed the new $2,500 pipe organ recently purchased. Andrew Carnegie made a donation of $1,200 on it, the other being raised principally by the ladies of the church.

Hopkinson was wont to observe Lent very vigorously, and seldom deviated from the straight and narrow path.

But on a certain fast day, after three hours of golf, Hopkinson couldn't resist a luncheon of chops.

And as he munched his chops a violent storm came up suddenly, a blue light filled the room, and then a terrific clap of thunder shook the building.

Hopkinson, pale and shaky, laid down his knife and fork. "What a fuss," he muttered, "over a mutton chop!"

Men seem crazy to spend money on anything except the family.

SCORE YESTERDAY WAS 4 TO 2 IN 8 INNING CONTEST

Darkness Halted Game With Greenville But Not Until Victory Graced Local Colors.

Umpire Nugent called yesterday afternoon's contest between the Patriots and Spinners just before the eighth inning had been completed and stopped one of the most spectacular finales seen this season. The game ended with the score 4 to 2 in Greensboro's favor. At the beginning of the eighth frame the score was 1 to 0 in Greensboro's behalf, so it will be seen that the locals would have gotten the victory had the game been called sooner. The approaching storm and the darkness resulting from it were the causes for stopping the contest.

As the game was called before the end of the eighth there was some question among the fans as to whether the score was 1 to 0, or 4 to 2, and for their benefit the following extract from the official rules is given, which shows that in a case of the kind the score of 4 to 2 is taken:

"If the umpire calls a game at any time after five innings have been completed, the score shall be that of the last equal innings played, except that if the side second at the bat shall have scored in an unequal number of innings, or before the completion of the unfinished inning, at least one run more than the side first at bat, the score of the game shall be the total number of runs made by each team."

Had Greensboro failed to score in the eighth inning yesterday the score at the end of the seventh would have been taken; and the same would be true if the score had been tied in the eighth; but as the team with the unfinished inning was ahead the score of the game up to the time it was called was taken.

A Game of Features.
The contest was one of the prettiest seen here this season. "Deacon" Morrissey was on the knoll for the locals and was opposed by Bussey, a man recently secured by Manager Smith from the South Atlantic league. Bussey was also with Wilmington at one time and later in the Virginia league. Both did fine work till the eighth when the darkness made fielding difficult. Only one error was made in the game and that not a costly one. All of the runs were earned.

Carroll starred with the stick, getting two singles, a triple and another drive just outside the foul line that was a near-hit for a prospective three sacks. Lowman also came in for a pretty three-bagger, while Morrissey and Ware landed on the sphere for two singles. Rickard romped all over center field and gobbled up everything that came his way.

Hoyey and Doak got the long drives for the Spinners, and Goodman and Taguer hit the horsehide for two singles each. Cashion made as pretty a catch as one ever sees of Clapp's low drive to left field.

Greensboro's first run was made in the first inning. Rickard hit the ball between first and second. Hoyey ran to get it and there was no one covering first, so Rickard got on safely. Doyle sacrificed him to second, and he scored when Clapp sent a pretty drive over Hoyey's head. No more runs were made until the eighth. In the first half of this frame Bussey singled, and Sharp sacrificed. Then Hoyey sent one past Clapp for three sacks, Bussey crossing the rubber. Hoyey touched the plate when Goodman singled.

When the Patriots came up in the eighth the storm in the northeast was threatening and the fans were hoping for rain before the inning could be finished.

WINSTON DEFEATED ANDERSON, 3 TO 1

Anderson, S. C., July 13.—Two errors behind young Jamison in the fourth inning seemed to take the ginger out of his pitching and several passes in the sixth allowed one more run for the visitors. He deserved to win the game but a misjudged fly and a grounder let pass by an out-fielder gave two runs in the fourth. The visitors played well. Only about 150 persons saw the game and the club is losing money rapidly.

SPARTANBURG 12 CHARLOTTE ONLY 4

Spartanburg, July 13.—The locals had today's game from the start. Manager Laval starring in the box. Neither of the regular pitchers used by Charlotte three innings a piece were effective and Outfielder Cutts held three men up to three down but he started too late. The locals made runs off four hits in the first, two in the second, one in the third, one in the fourth, and six in the sixth.

Bases on balls got men on and long hits scored.

ished. But the players were not caring for the storm; they would win anyhow. Doak lined out a beauty in daisy-cutters. Clapp sacrificed him to second.

Lowman sent one for three sacks over in right garden. Doak scoring. Carroll put a similar one over in right field, on which he went to third and Lowman scored. Ware hit to Sharp and Carroll scored as Ware went out at first. The "Deacon" came up for his third hit, but Nugent looked to the dark and threatening northeast and the darker field, then announced the game called. The score:

DIAMOND DUST

Where They Play Today and Tomorrow.
Greenville at Greensboro.
Charlotte in Spartanburg.
Winston in Anderson.

Seems to us it's about time Winston was losing again.

Had them beat anyway so what did it matter if the rain did come.

You never can tell which end of our batting list is going to break loose.

Carroll and Lowman will yet show the fans some real batting before this season's over.

The Deacon and Catcher Ware do not mind tapping the sphere when it is necessary to get the game.

If the attendance keeps decreasing we are going to print the names of those who go in our personal mention column.

Corwin, who has played shortstop and right field for the Patriots during a part of the season, has been suspended for 30 days. He will leave today for his home in Leesburg, Ohio, to spend his "vacation."

The familiar figure of Blackstone is missed among the Spinners. In Wednesday's game he fractured his ankle and will be out of the game the rest of the season. The Greenville fans raised $40 for him in a few minutes when they learned he was hurt.

There isn't enough enthusiasm in an attendance of 200 to start a team to playing town ball, and some of these towns don't deserve as good a team as they have, according to the attendance on the games.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Cliff Averett, who was the mainstay of the Spartans for two seasons, and who joined the Hornets in Spartanburg yesterday, is expected to add much strength to their twirling staff, which has been suffering of late from overwork.

The monument to Laval, to be donated by the Greensboro bugs, has been delayed on account of the loss of the game yesterday. Laval will be given one more chance to make it three straight while Greensboro is winning a like number, and then the order will be forthcoming.—Charlotte Chronicle.

Senator Gallinger's Son Killed in Automobile Accident

Special to Telegram.
Pembroke, N. H., July 13.—Dr. Ralph E. Gallinger, of Concord, son of United States Senator Jacob Gallinger, was killed in an auto accident early this morning. He had been out in an automobile with a friend and on the return trip to Concord struck a sandy stretch of roadway and the machine turned turtle. Gallinger was pinned beneath the car and instantly killed. He was 40 years old.

Mrs. L. A. Smith Died Last Night

Mrs. L. A. Smith died last night at 11:45 o'clock at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. J. G. Foushee, Jr., 407 South Mendenhall street, following a stroke of paralysis suffered on Tuesday. Mrs. Smith was in her 81st year and since she suffered a stroke some time ago had not been in good health. Since the second stroke on Tuesday her condition had been critical and death was not unexpected.

The deceased is survived by three children, Mrs. J. G. Foushee, Jr., Mrs. Mayme L. Smith, who lived with Mrs. Foushee, and J. D. Smith, of Mt. Airy. The funeral will be held from the late residence this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock conducted by Rev. Melton Clark, pastor of the deceased. The interment will be low in Green Hill cemetery.

Then They Moved In.
Client—Before we decide on the house, my husband asked me to inquire if the district is at all healthy.

House Agent—Er—what is your husband's profession, madam?

Client—He is a physician.

House Agent—Hum—er—well, I'm afraid truth compels me to admit that the district is not too healthy.—London Opinion.

The Only Thing She Could Do.
"My goodness! I can't understand how she could give up her child. They say it has really been adopted by a family that lives in the country."

"Yes. You see she found a flat that just suited her, and they wouldn't allow children in the building."

"I saw an old-fashioned picnic party starting off this morning. It was a real sight."

"Glad to see others enjoying their selves, eh?"

"No; glad because I didn't have to go."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.
